RE Project Manager – High-End Custom Residential

Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm a Seattle-based Project Manager with 20+ years in construction and a track record built around high-end, detail-intensive residential work. At Toth Construction I managed $8M+ in luxury residential projects on the Eastside — coordinating directly with world-class architects and artisans, owning preconstruction estimating and ROM development, and managing value engineering conversations with owners from early design through delivery. That work gave me fluency with the permit offices, subcontractor relationships, and client expectations specific to Medina, Clyde Hill, Bellevue, and Kirkland.

Prior to Toth I spent a year at Discovery Land Company delivering ultra-luxury resort homes for among the most demanding clientele I've worked with. Building owner trust and keeping projects moving beneath that level of scrutiny is a discipline I carry into every engagement.

My estimating background spans detailed takeoffs, ROM budgeting through schematic and design development phases, and VE that protects design intent while protecting the owner's budget — at SODO Builders I captured $400K+ in facade savings without compromising the architect's vision. I'm also comfortable running multiple projects simultaneously without losing focus on quality, schedule, or cost at any site.

I'd welcome the opportunity to hear more about your pipeline and discuss how I can contribute. Thank you for your consideration.

With regards,

Michael Colenso
